Dear Miller,

In an edition of Cicero: pro Caelio by R. G. Austin, Lecturer in Humanity in Glasgow & formerly Exhibitioner of Balliol, (Clarendon Press, 1933) I find on p. XIX. "Note: A complete translation of the speech appears in a Fanfrolico Press edition of Catullus, by J. Lindsay [1929]; but it has many inaccuracies and is often little more than a paraphrase."

I think you will find that is true of all J. L.'s translations; the young man is not a good enough scholar for the job.

Very truly yours

R. A. Dunbabin
